Wheel Welding Policy - Third Party Provider

The Wheel Specialist do not carry out or recommend the welding of wheels.

The Wheel Specialist will use a third-party company for welding, and other than in respect to us using our reasonable endeavors to select a competent engineer to carry out such works, accept no liability for the welding work undertaken by the third-party company.

Due to the welding process, the welded area may have small pin holes which can only be seen after the refurbishment process. We accept no responsibility for this as it is due to the welding process.

I have read and understood the statement above and wish The Wheel Specialist to use the services of a third-party welder and continue with the repair, regardless of the advice above.
